AIM AT MASAN

Bitter Fight to Get at South
Korea's Key Port of Pusan

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Aug. 3.—(INS)—Communist spearheads jabbed tonight to points four miles from Masan and 12 miles from Taegu as tank-paced U. S. troops unleashed new rearguard counter-attacks to cover a retreat to the Nakdong River.

American forces, using newly-delivered and heavier Sherman tanks, struck back east of Chinju. But advance Red feeler units swung around the U. S. south flank to approach Masan, western gateway to South Korea's key port of Pusan.

North Korean advance patrols, thrusting along Korea's southern shoreline, reached the road center of Chindong-Ni, only four airline miles southwest of Masan and nine miles by winding road to that sizeable port. The enemy forward units thus penetrated to within 29 miles west of all-important Pusan.

International News Service War Correspondent Frank Emery said that it was not yet determined whether the advance patrols were Red guerrillas or belonged to the regular enemy army.

In a dispatch direct from the southern sector of the shrinking Korean "beachhead," Emery reported at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening (8:30 a. m. E. D. T.), that other Red patrols farther north had reached Taksangdong. The latter is a ferry crossing point on the north-south stretch of the wide Nakdong River, 12 miles southwest of Taegu.

Other Communist troops, coming down from the junction of Kunchong abandoned Wednesday by the withdrawing U. S. First Cavalry Division, were reported to have reached Waegwan. That town lies on the Nakdong's east bank only 12 air miles northwest of Taegu, provisional South Korean capital and nerve-center of the whole.

U. S. Air Force Initiates Drive For Young Men

As part of its overall intensified recruiting campaign, the U. S. Air Force has initiated a special drive for the procurement of young men to be trained as pilots and navigators. It was announced today by S/Sgt. Chas. F. Kinsey, in charge of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Sgt. Kinsey stated further that individuals who have received notice from Selective Service Boards to report for pre-induction processing are not eligible to apply. However, those applicants who have applied, been found qualified and accepted prior to receipt of notice to report for pre-induction, will be granted the necessary deferment to allow for the normal time in awaiting selection to a specific class for training.

In conclusion, the sergeant added that any unmarried male citizen, between the ages of 20 and 26½, who has completed two or more years of college, is eligible to apply and can secure full details at the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, located at Municipal Bldg. here in Bristol, Pa.

ONE-THIRD GAIN IN MARRIAGE LICENSES

Bristol Sent Less But County As A Whole Sent More

QUAKERTOWN SECOND

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 3.—Bristol sent less than half its usual quota of marriage license applicants to the county seat last month, but the county showed a one-third gain over July of last year.

Bristol altar-bound couples numbered 17 of the 133 total for the entire county. Last July only 100 licenses were sold. Quakertown came in a strong second with 16, and Doylestown added ten to take third place. Langhorne provided eight couples and Croydon seven. Perkasie, Sellersville and Yardley had five each.

Altogether 43 county communities sent marriage hopefuls to Doylestown. Applicants also came from Philadelphia, 13 other towns in the state, and from eight other states.

Philadelphia came out on top with 64 applications, while Hatboro came in second in the out-of-the-county listing with ten. Willow Grove and Norristown supplied two each, and one license apiece was issued for couples from Jenkintown, Hellertown, Bethlehem, Carlisle, Washington, Hatfield, Dallastown, Sanatoga, Lansdale and Bloomsburg.

New Jersey contributed the most from outside the state with 29 aspirants. Five applications came from New York, two each from Virginia and Ohio, and one apiece from Washington, D. C., Delaware, Michigan and North Carolina.

Bristol contributed the oldest couple of the 15 who were over 50 years of age. A Bristol man of 66 signed up to marry a woman of 57. From Yardley a 65-year-old man took a 51-year-old woman as a mate.

Sixty six of the marriage hopefuls were under age and required parental consent before being applied. There were 19 future husbands and 47 potential housewives in this category. One was a 29-year-old North Carolina bridegroom who was marrying a 16-year-old Westminster girl.

The age differences between man and wife was not as great as in former years, only one girl of 20, taking a man ten years older than herself for a husband.

Twenty divorced couples again made a try at marriage in July. One bride was taking her third chance at matrimony. Ten of the re-marrying group had received their divorce decrees since the first of the year.

Death had ended a former marriage for sixteen applicants. Of these, two had been bereaved recently, one remarrying a few days after the death of the former spouse.

569 REGISTER IN THREE DISTRICTS IN BRISTOL TWP.

MANY TURNED AWAY

Interest in Township Status
Brought Out Big Crowd

The question of changing the status of Bristol Township from second class to first class brought out a "very heavy" registration yesterday as traveling registrars made their annual call at Edgely, Croydon and Newportville.

The total registration was 569, Republicans numbering 329, Democrats 210 and 30 no-party.

Close to a hundred persons left before registering at Croydon last night, as the prospective voters filled the fire house to overflowing. Croydon registered a total of 288 persons, Republicans numbering 153, Democrats 119 and 16 no-party. Twenty persons notified the registrars of change in voting district, and two called to enter changes in name.

Interest has been running high in recent months on the question of converting the district from a second to a first-class township. The answer will come in the Nov. 7 elections, when yesterday's newly-registered voters will be among those who will vote "yes" or "no."

At the Newportville fire house 158 persons were registered, 116 being Republicans, 39 Democrats, and three no-party.

Edgely registered a total of 123, Republicans numbering 60, Democrats 52 and 11 no-party.

About a dozen of the total were persons from Bristol borough who failed to register here Tuesday.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

In the United Nations Security Council, the United States and Britain called on the Soviet Union to present a "genuine" proposal for ending the Korean struggle. United States delegate Warren R. Austin declared that "the whole spirit of humanity" demanded that such a move "be made without further delay."

The United States was sponsoring a plan to form a permanent emergency commission of the international organization that would promptly study and report on aggression anywhere on earth. Secretary of State Acheson charged that the Soviet Union had violated and was continuing to violate its obligations under the United Nations Charter.

Mr. Acheson told a House committee that if the potentials of the free nations were developed quickly with United States help the liberty-loving countries would be more than strong enough to meet the threats of Communist aggression.

The Atomic Energy Commission selected the duPont company to construct and operate the production facilities for the projected hydrogen bomb. Congress was ready to enact some form of economic mobilization but was confronted by a plethora of measures. The Senate Finance Committee, acting on President Truman's request for $5,000,000,000 of new taxes to meet higher military costs, voted a 10 per cent levy on television sets, deep-freeze units and slot machines.

Pro-Leopold demonstrations were held in Flanders as a protest against the announced abdication of the Belgian throne by King Leopold.

To restore French credit abroad the Bank of France revalued its gold reserves in accordance with the current rate of exchange for the franc.

ROSENBERG WAS ORDINARY WORKMAN IN HIS LITTLE MACHINE SHOP WHEN HE WAS ARRESTED AS A SOVIET SPY

This is the fourth and last in a series of articles about the four principal figures involved so far in the roundup of alleged Soviet spies. In addition to these four, which include chemist Harry Gold, the FBI has arrested Abraham Brythman and a woman associate as former co-conspirators of Gold. All involved so far are ordinary Americans and underscore the warning of President Truman against enemies boring from within as members of "Treason, Inc."

CHAPMAN FOUR
By Malcolm Johnson
INS Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS)—Julius Rosenberg scrubbed the grease from his hands and left his little machine shop, an afternoon paper tucked under his arm, shortly after 6 p. m. on July 17.

Like the dutiful family man he was, he went directly home to his eleventh floor apartment in a low-cost housing development on the lower east side in New York.

He sat down with his wife and their two young children to a simple meal of shoulder lamb chops and boiled potatoes. After dinner he helped his wife with the dishes.

Thirty minutes later, while his wife was getting the children to bed, FBI agents arrested Rosenberg as the fourth American member of the Soviet atomic spy ring operating in the United States.

With Rosenberg's arrest his relationship with David Greenglass, also under arrest, was revealed for the first time. They are brothers-in-law. It was Rosenberg, says the FBI, who recruited Greenglass for the spy ring and instructed him as to what information the Russians wanted from the Los Alamos atomic energy plant when Greenglass was stationed there as a soldier in 1945. Rosenberg is perhaps the mildest

'CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM'

Some day next September, if plans mature, a great new bell will ring in West Berlin. "The first clasp of the Freedom Bell will be carried by radio to all the free peoples of the earth. Simultaneously, bells will ring out all over America—church bells, city hall bells, schools. Behind the Iron Curtain bells will appear scrawled on walls."

The 10-ton bronze bell now being cast in England will have certain devices on it. "Five figures around the bell represent the five races of man, shown passing the torch of freedom. Above them is the laurel of peace, the inscription around the base reads, in paraphrase of Lincoln's words at Gettysburg, 'That This World Under God Shall Have a New Birth of Freedom.'"

Thus was announced in Chicago a project called the "Crusade for Freedom." Encouraged by President Truman and the State Department, it is set up strictly apart from the government's efforts to turn the minds of men away from communism. It is to supplement the official U. S. Voice of America by asking Americans to contribute to the support of Radio Free Europe. This is a "new broadcasting station in Western Germany" already put on the air by a group of private U. S. citizens. If and as public support materializes, the story of freedom will go out this way to Asia as well.

Leading this effort as national chairman is General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany during the airlift. Among the other leaders are General Eisenhower, who led the liberation of Europe from the Nazis, and Joseph C. Grew, who as ambassador to Japan gave unheeded warnings of Pacific aggression long in advance.

This campaign will be nationwide and should be met with the seriousness it deserves. It is hoped there will be plenty of ears to hear when the Freedom Bell rings out.

RECOVERY VS. DEFENSE

If Europe's need for military aid is as great as the administration suggests and as Europe itself contends the United States might consider seriously the possibility of diverting some Marshall Plan funds to that more important field. It probably would take an act of Congress to make the transfer legal but in the present emergency the vote on the matter would be nearly unanimous.

Under the circumstances the states of western Europe can hardly object if some of the money allocated to its economic recovery is now used for purposes of its defense. It will mean, of course, that Europeans will have to make certain sacrifices, but that's the unhappy prospect ahead of Americans, too.

Summer has its advantage, especially for curious people who man observation posts on front porches to see what the neighbors are up to.

Customers' Corner

Every housewife who wants to get the most good food for her money should ask herself these questions about her food store:

Are prices low on all items every day in the week?

Is the price plainly marked on each item?

Is the quality high?

The answer should always be "yes" at A&P. If it isn't, we want to know about it.

Oil Painting Presented To County Art Gallery By Sydney Schofield

The Bucks County Art Gallery Collection has just received as a gift, a valued painting by the late W. Elmer Schofield. It is the largest oil painting in the school collection and was presented by Sydney Schofield, son of the late American artist. The marine landscape "Freshening Breeze" was painted by Mr. Schofield while he lived in England. It shows a portion of the rocky cornish coast. Schofield produced many paintings of the Cornish coast. Walter E. Baum, Sellersville artist, and one of the founders of the Bucks County School Art Gallery was responsible for the new acquisition as he interested Sydney Schofield, who resides in England, in the Bucks County School Art Gallery.

The painting will not be placed in the regular school circuits but will be exhibited throughout the county by special arrangement. It now hangs in the meeting room of the County Education Building, Doylestown.

The new oil is among the ten most prized paintings of the school collection which currently numbers eighty. The Bucks County Art Gallery is the most important public school circulating collection in the United States.

A columnist after analyzing 90,000 letters received from readers, concludes that "fear is private enemy No. 1." Almost everyone, it seems, is afraid of one thing or another.

Basic to all fear, however, is the universal sense of guilt and the dread of future retribution. Remove sin from human life, and you remove the deepest root of fear.

Only the Christian Gospel can do that; only the Gospel of full and free forgiveness through the death of Christ in the place of men.

"Fear not" is a fitting introduction for many a Bible verse. Fear not, thy sins are forgiven thee. Fear not, there shall no evil befall thee. Fear not, I will uphold thee.

He who has experienced the love of God in Christ need never be afraid of anything. In the midst of perplexity he is assured of a divine Presence—a Presence which assures the defeat of fear. "Be not afraid, only believe," Jesus says. Do you believe?

TRAFFIC DEATHS JUMPED AN AVERAGE OF 11 PERCENT PER MONTH LAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.—Traffic deaths in 1950, up an average of 11 per cent per month over 1949, will break all postwar records, the year's first four months indicate.

Making this forecast on the eve of the anticipated heavy July 4th traffic, Lt. Gen. Eugene Reybold, executive vice-president, American Road Builders' Association, called the increased number of traffic victims "casualties of America's highway crisis." Citing National Safety Council statistics, Gen. Reybold pointed to 980 more traffic fatalities in the first four months of 1950 than in the first third of 1949 as "proof that physical improvement of the nation's highway system is essential if this trend is to be reversed."

Capped by the worst April ever, when 2,710 persons — one every quarter hour — met death on the highways, the 1950 motor traffic death rate has grown progressively worse, the ARBA official pointed out.

"In 1950, January deaths were four per cent higher than in the previous January," he said. "February's fatalities were nine per cent above the previous year; in March the increase was 15 per cent, and in April 17 per cent."

Lauding efforts of safety organizations in educating drivers and pedestrians, the official of the country's oldest national good roads organization nevertheless emphasized that this work alone is not enough, and declared:

"Unless our roads and streets are modernized, the work of safety organizations in the fields of education, enforcement, uniform laws, engineering and other phases of safety work will not hold down the postwar slaughter. Unfortunately, the engineering attack designed to achieve built-in highway safety has been far from adequate because of the restricted highway construction program. Without rebuilding roads and streets to accommodate modern traffic, we cannot stem the fatality rate which can be expected to continue to skyrocket in the face of record-shattering motor vehicle production."

"Our highway crisis, which finds $41 billion in highway deficiencies such as poor alignment, inadequate sight distances and narrow roadways, combined with an increase of nearly 50 per cent in motor vehicle registrations in the last five years — from 30 million to 44½ million — constitute a menace to safety we just can't afford to ignore."

"If the average monthly increase of 11 per cent recorded in the first four months of this year is merely maintained, nearly 35,000 people will be killed in traffic accidents this year. We haven't killed that many since the last pre-war year, 1941, and have killed more than that in only five years out of the last 37."

According to statistics of the National Safety Council, the following states led the rest of the nation in percentage of traffic fatality increases in the first four months of this year: Idaho, 194%; South Dakota, 81%; Florida, 70%; Connecticut, 62%; Mississippi, 61%; Wyoming, 52%; Kentucky, 42%; Colorado, 41%; Louisiana, 41%; Nebraska, 36%; and Arizona, 35%.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO PA. FARMERS

By Al Spivak
INS Penna. Farm Editor
HARRISBURG, Aug. 3 — (INS) —Southwestern Pennsylvania farmers banded together to wipe out invading hordes of crop-eating army worms.

County agents and Pennsylvania State College extension specialists cooperated in a battle to rid the land of the rampaging pests.

Some farmers were forced to drive up and down their grain fields, destroying sections of their crop in order to save the greater portion.

DDT and chlordane were insecticides used as one measure to eliminate the caterpillar-like worms.

A second method was use of a parasitic fly to lay eggs on the worms. Hatching eggs would become larvae would eat up the host worms.

Airplanes, weed sprayers, orchard and potato spray rigs were put into service to apply the chemical spray at the rate of one pound per acre.

The worms, named for their army-like marching advance, resemble the ordinary cutworm, according to Penn state entomologists. Dull gray in color, they are one and a half to two inches long.

Eggs laid by mature moths hatch on leaves of grass or grass-like plants. Newly-hatched worms eat the tender growth and then begin moving away. Their march is rapid but always in a straight line interrupted only to feast on their first plant encountered.

The worms favor corn, barley, wheat, timothy and other grasses for food. They have been known to devastate an acre of grain in less than 24 hours.

Massing across heavily traveled highways, they cause a slippery hazardous coating to the roadway when they are crushed by vehicles.

Bedford and Blair counties reported heaviest infestation. Bedford County agent L. R. Mollenauer said their appearance in the area was the first in 10 years.

Severe attacks were reported also in Huntingdon, Indiana, Westmoreland and Washington counties. Penn State entomologist E. J. Udine said their presence was caused in part by a cool, wet spring following a mild winter.

Penn State agronomist Herbert Albrecht announced that forage crop research in Pennsylvania has been broadened to include trials and tests at 14 locations. Tests formerly had been going on at only five sites.

Studies include breeding work in grasses and legumes, combination tests for various species, management problems and fertility work on forage crops.

Legume work involves Alfalfa, birdsfoot trefoil, ladino, red clover crimson clover and Lespedeza as species and numerous strains within each.

Grasses included in the studies are brome, fescues, meadow foxtail, orchard grass, perennial ryegrass, reed canarygrass, tall oatgrass, timothy, Kentucky bluegrass, sudangrass and the millets.

TO EXPAND SEWERS IN PERKASIE BOROUGH

Survey Is Now Being Made To Determine The Possible Costs

INCLUDES 3 AREAS

PERKASIE, Aug. 3 — All of the first and second wards may soon have sewer service as the Perkasio Sewer Co. and a Philadelphia engineering firm began a survey of the greater part of the two wards this week.

Frank O'Rourke, superintendent of the company, said "we have no definite plans for expansion, but we shall compile all the necessary information we need including possible costs to extend our service throughout the area involved."

He explained that there are now three separate areas in the two wards without sewer service.

One section includes the area west of the Reading Railway tract from the northern end of the borough to a point several hundred feet north of Park avenue. Five blocks of homes along Ninth avenue are the major development in this area.

The second area is from Third to Seventh avenues, between Park avenue. The third district is north of Race street in the first ward, with the exception of Vine between Third and Fourth streets.

The survey will cover the capacity of the present trunk line into the disposal plant south of Sellersville; the anticipated added volume, to the system if service is extended to the whole area, and the cost of enlarging and extending service lines.

Work on the survey was begun last Monday as the engineers began making a count of all buildings in the area without sewer service. The street area will be measured, cellars will be checked to determine necessary depths for sewer lines, holes are being drilled to learn the nature of the under soil, and other information will be gathered to gain an approximation of the cost.

Ridge road is the only portion of the two wards not included in the survey.

The study is being made independent of borough authorities, although the information will be of interest to the officials.

Frozen Fresh

for economy

A modern electric home freezer pays for itself with savings on food bills. Think what you can save by buying foods in quantities when they are plentiful and prices at their lowest! Think what you can save by preserving leftovers to serve weeks or even months later! Additional savings can be made if you have your own vegetable garden or if there is a hunter or fisherman in the family. All these important economies really make the home freezer a "budget-slasher." See them today at your dealer's or at our nearest store.

Of course, it's Electric!
